

Jo Ann Woodley

I have lived in Arizona my entire life. Traveling and birding, along with art of course, are my passions. For me, art is the passport to revisit the wild places, plants and creatures that I have seen on my journeys. I especially enjoy botanical art, as it is very exacting, and allows the artist to truly examine a plant and all of its intricate parts. I work primarily in colored pencil, pen and ink, graphite and watercolor.very exacting, and allows the artist to truly examine a plant and all of its intricate parts. Exhibitions/Awards/Publications

I have shown in various colored pencil exhibits throughout Arizona since 2000. I recently exhibited colored pencil botanical art at the Prescott Institute of Natural History (January 2020). My pen and ink illustrations have been published in a national botanical Intermountain Flora, and I participated in a botanical illustration at the Grand Canyon featuring plant species of the area.
